Jesse T. Hummingbird, the artist, is a tribal member of the Cherokee Nation. He was born in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, in 1952 and has been a full-time artist since 1983. Jesse is known for his contemporary versions of Cherokee masks hung to protect and bring good luck to the home, as well as his acrylic canvasses. Jesse's images are his own unique interpretations of Native American themes in a contemporary style. Among his honors are the 1992 Gallup Inter-Tribal Ceremonial poster artist, 1996 Artist of the Year by the Indian Arts and Crafts Association, and 1996 SWAIA Fellowship artist. Jesse currently lives in Bisbee, AZ.

NATIVE AMERICAN LEDGER ART COLORING BOOK: Counting 1 to 10

Sandy & Jesse
Hummingbird

Native American Ledger Art Coloring Book is based on Native artistic tradition for children learning to count. Ledger art grew out of the tradition of Plains Indians, who drew pictures on buffalo hides to tell the stories and history of their people. After the buffalo were gone, these tribal people drew their picture stories in the ledger books used by store owners to do their bookkeeping.
